

EASTHAMPTON

Located below the rugged Mount Tom Range, Easthampton is a residential and manufacturing community whose population has remained stable since 2000. Easthampton has a growing arts community, and maintains a New England village character. The town's Central Business District remains an architecturally attractive and historically significant feature of the community.

Settled around 1664, incorporated as a town in 1785, and changed to a city form of governance in 1996, Easthampton was an agrarian village until the mid-1800s when manufacturing became a major force in the local economy. Innovations in the manufacture of cloth-covered buttons and the use of vulcanized rubber in woven goods catapulted Easthampton into a leading industrial center. By the 1900s, there were numerous factories producing yarn, thread, buttons, and elastic. Easthampton today has thirty-two manufacturing firms which create 19.3 percent of the jobs in Easthampton. Projects such as Eastworks, Mill 180, Paragon, The Brickyard, One Cottage Street, and 15 Cottage Street all reuse existing mill space for new businesses and private residences.

Easthampton offers numerous opportunities for education and recreation. Nonotuck Park is a beautiful regional recreation area containing 190 acres for active and passive activities. The Massachusetts Audubon Society manages the Arcadia Wildlife Sanctuary which provides educational programs for adults and children. Easthampton is also home to the Williston Northampton School, a private secondary college prep school which recently received a blue ribbon educational award, ranking it one of the top private schools in the country.
