The Massachusetts Department of Transportation (MassDOT) is hosting the first public information meeting on the Interstate 91 (I-91) Viaduct Study. MassDOT initiated this study to identify existing issues and evaluate alternatives for I-91 from I-291 to the Connecticut State line. The project team will present an overview of the study area; goals, objectives, and evaluation criteria; role of the Working Group; existing conditions data collection; and project opportunities and constraints. The public is encouraged to attend to learn more about the study and provide feedback.

MassDOT is simultaneously replacing the deck of the I-91 viaduct to address urgent safety needs for the I-91 Viaduct Rehabilitation Project. The I-91 Viaduct Study is a conceptual planning study to develop recommendations for a long-term vision for I-91. For more information, visit the study website:
